Highlights of the report are noted for service recipients (such as 3.2 million children and adults received services) and provision of selected services (child day care, health related, protective, family planning, foster care, and adoption services). General comments and technical notes precede the tables and analyses which comprise most of the document. Tables provide information by state and in summary form and have the following titles: "Count of Primary Recipients", "Primary Recipients by Category", "Summary of Supplemental Security Income", "Services Provided", "Services Provided by Category", "State Services", "Summary of Day Care", and "Summary of Day Care by State". Appended are a glossary of terms; summaries of social services, child welfare, and work incentive programs; and data collection forms. (DB)

FOREWORD

Social Services U.S.A. -- covering the period January through March 1976 -- is the second in a new series of social services reports published by the Social and Rehabilitation Service.

Adoption, foster care, day care, homemaker services, counselling, and protection against abuse and neglect of children and adults are among the services embraced in these reports. States' expenditures for social services can be Federally funded, on approximately a 75-25 matching basis, up to a total of $2.5 billion per year for all States and the District of Columbia.

The last 8 years have seen a rapid increase in our social services programs. They have also seen legislation which ushered in a new approach to the provision of services to those who need them.

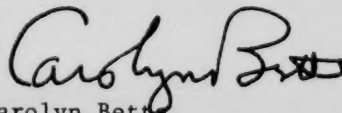

Title XX of the Social Security Act -- Social Services Programs for Individuals and Families -- requires States to engage in a public planning process so that citizens can help to decide the social services that should be available. From this process, the State produces an annual services plan as the basis upon which State and Federal funds will be spent.

Along with the planning process, the States are required to report each quarter on the delivery of services. This is the second publication summarizing the States' reports. The series will report how many people received what kinds of services, at what cost, and toward what goal.

In addition to services provided under Title XX, Social Services U.S.A. will report quarterly and annual data covering two other programs authorized under the Social Security Act: Child Welfare Services under Title IV-B, and the Work Incentive (WIN) program under Title IV-C. Summaries of these programs appear in Appendix B.

These reports are being phased in to give the States time to establish or refine their reporting capabilities. The first and second issues of Social Services U.S.A. and several subsequent issues will therefore be incomplete. For example, service costs will not be available until the third quarter report.

The Public Services Administration of the Social and Rehabilitation Service is pleased to present the second in this series and welcomes your comments and suggestions.

[illegible]

I. SOCIAL SERVICES U.S.A. -- HIGHLIGHTS

Salient facts and figures emerge from analysis of the States' statistical reports for the period January through March 1976. The following are highlights from those reports.

SERVICE RECIPIENTS

- Over 3.2 million children and adults were primary recipients of social services in this quarter, representing an increase of 21% over the comparable figure of 2.7 million reported for the previous quarter. Of this 3.2 million total, 2.2 million primary recipients were adults, and 1.1 million were children.

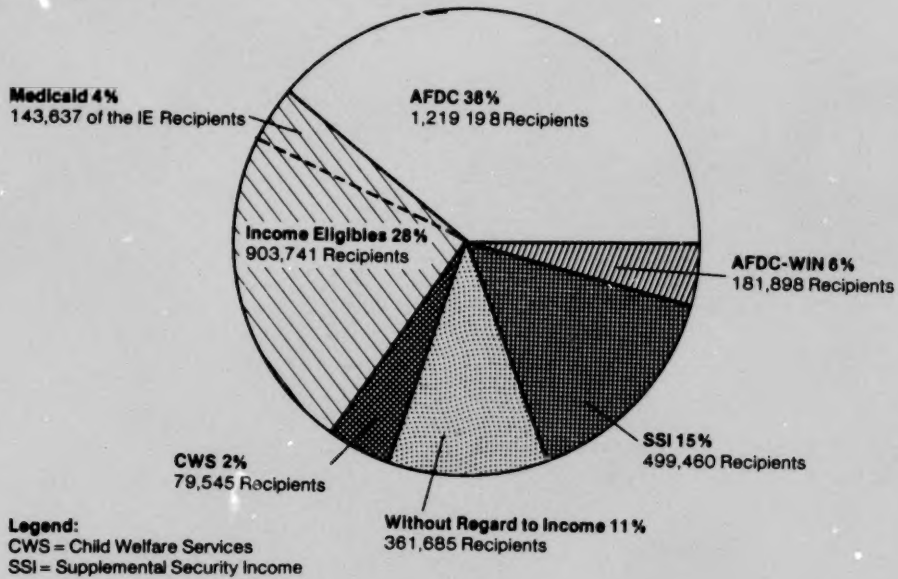

NOTE: A primary recipient is an individual with whom, or for whom, a specific goal is established and to whom services are provided for the purpose of achieving the goal. Services are considered to be provided to the primary recipient when they are provided to other members of the primary recipient's family to facilitate achievement of the goal of the primary recipient.

Hereinafter in this report, "primary recipient" is referred to as "recipient."

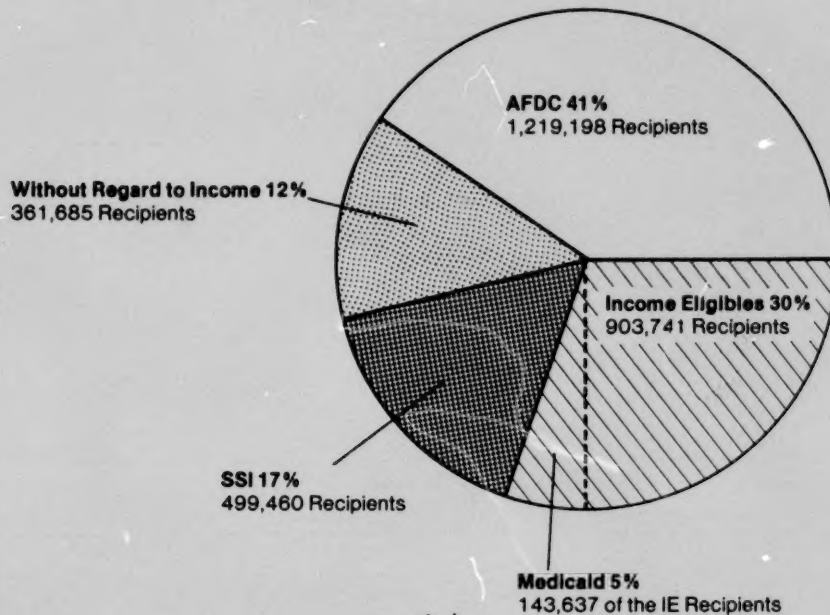

All terms are defined in Appendix A.

- California reported the largest number of recipients -- 376,000.
- Approximately 10% of those receiving AFDC during the quarter were also recipients of social services.
- The three largest categories of service recipients were:
 - AFDC-related.
 - Income Eligibles.
 - SSI-related.
- The number of recipients in the AFDC-related category of eligibility reached 1.2 million during this quarter. The AFDC category of recipients accounts for 38% of the service population for this quarter, compared with 40% for the first reporting period.
- Over 904,000 persons in the Income Eligible (including Medicaid) category of recipients received social services -- 269,000 more than during the previous quarter. Title XX enables this group of recipients to receive public social services.

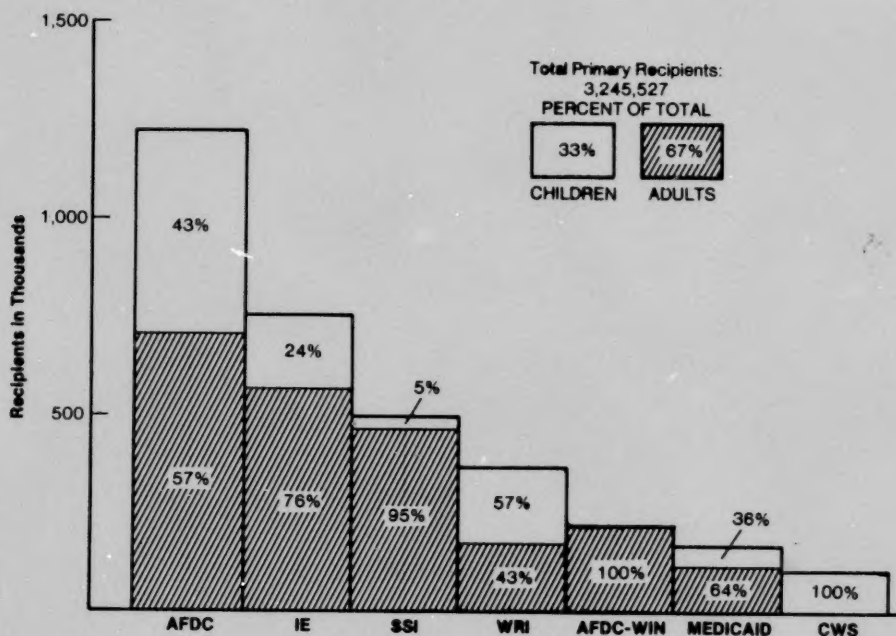

- Number of Primary Recipients of Social Services Under Titles IV-B, IV-C (WIN), and XX of the Social Security Act, by Category of Eligibility with Percent of Total:

- Number of Primary Recipients of Social Services Under Title XX Only, by Category of Eligibility with Percent of Total:

● Adult and Child Primary Recipients of Social Services, by Category:

- The categories with the largest proportion of children were CWS (100%), WRI (57%), and AFDC (43%).

PROVISION OF SELECTED SERVICES

- Child day care services -- provided to approximately 566,000 children (including children who were not primary recipients).
 - o The largest category of recipients (57%) were AFDC-related.
 - o The most frequently provided type of day care was full-time center care.
- Health-related services -- provided to 522,000 recipients; 61% were adults, and 39% were children. Of these recipients 49% were in the AFDC category.
- Protective services -- provided to approximately 507,000 recipients; 44% were adults, and 56% were children. Of these recipients, 42% were in the Without Regard to Income category of eligibility, and 31% were in the AFDC category.
- Family planning services -- provided to 246,000 recipients; 82% were adults, and 18% were children. Of these recipients, 56% were in the Income Eligible category.

- Foster care services -- provided to 225,000 recipients or 7% of the total number of recipients; 46% of the recipients of these services were in the AFDC category. Of those for whom foster care services were provided, 74% were children.

NOTE: Foster care services include a variety of activities: from placement of adults or children in foster care to special services for foster care parents and foster grandparents.

- Adoption services -- provided to approximately 36,000 recipients; 16% were adults, and 84% were children. Of these recipients, 37% were in the Child Welfare Services eligibility category.

II. GENERAL COMMENTS AND TECHNICAL NOTES

The reports presented in this publication are tabulations and analyses of social services data submitted by 49 reporting States and the District of Columbia in response to the Federal reporting requirements* for Titles XX, IV-B, and IV-C (WIN). Title IV-B (the Child Welfare Services program) and WIN reporting requirements were revised and integrated with those of Title XX to avoid duplication and to consolidate State and Federal reporting of social services under the Social Security Act.

The tables in Social Services U.S.A. show the following data:

1. The categories and numbers of individuals receiving services.
2. The services they received.

The next issue will be expanded to include:

3. The cost of services.
4. The method of service provision; i.e.:
 - Direct,
 - Purchased public, or
 - Purchased private.

The figures in the highlight sections are rounded to the nearest thousand. Therefore, the individual column entries may not add up to the total.

RESPONSE BY STATES

Forty-nine States and the District of Columbia supplied data for this second quarter.

SOCIAL SERVICES DEFINITIONS

Under Title XX, each State develops its own comprehensive annual services plan defining the services it intends to make available to eligible persons. The services specified in each of the 50 State plans, plus the District of Columbia totaled 1,313, many of which were not comparable. In order to achieve a national perspective of social services, an analysis was made of all of the State plans for the purpose of producing a common language, or taxonomy, of social services. This taxonomy, used in compiling the list of services presented in the following tables, was developed for reporting purposes only. It does not change the intent of Section 2002 of Title XX which allows States to determine and define the services which they plan to provide, in the manner they deem most appropriate.

The process of developing this taxonomy from a State's service definitions was complex. Its basis evolved from the activities and subactivities (or components) listed for each service in each State's comprehensive annual services plan. Where the activities were similar in character, the services they represented were grouped under a common standard service descriptor, regardless of the name and title given the service by the State. Services for which no common characteristics could be shown were left as unique.

In the taxonomy, the service category of "Other" was included to cover those services provided by only a small number of States, where comparability between States was not possible.

Copies of the taxonomy showing all 1,313 services and how they are folded into the 41 used in the national reports on social services are available through HEW's Project SHARE (P.O. Box 2309, Rockville, Md. 20852).

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

With the initiation of new reporting requirements, erroneous data or data of questionable validity have emerged for these first two reporting periods. However, all data submitted by States were computer processed and the results sent to the States for review.

When reviewing the tables, the following general limitations apply:

1. Some recipients who received services under programs in effect before the passage of Title XX were not redetermined eligible under Title XX guidelines in time to be reported this quarter. Hence, recipient counts may still appear to be low.
2. A few States define "primary recipient" differently from the SSRR definition.

III. TABLES AND ANALYSES

The categories of people eligible to receive social services under the Title XX program fall roughly into two groups:

1. Persons who receive financial assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program or under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program.
2. Persons who pass an income means test based on their State's median income and family size.

The first group of eligible recipients is referred to as AFDC-related or as SSI-related. The second group is referred to as the Income Eligible (IE) or the "working poor." (The latter group includes the Medicaid-related category of recipients who do not receive AFDC or SSI.)

Title XX also provides for the delivery of services under certain circumstances without regard to levels of income. Persons who receive services under this provision are referred to as Without Regard to Income (WRI).

TABLE 1 - NATIONAL SUMMARY OF COUNT OF PRIMARY RECIPIENTS

This table indicates the service provision status of all categories of recipients on a State-by-State and national basis. The table shows how many recipients continued, initiated, or discontinued receiving social services during the reporting period, as well as recipients who would continue to receive services in the next quarter.

For this report, CWS recipients are included in the "No. Children" counts, and AFDC-WIN recipients, in the "No. Adults" count.

Individuals reported as "Unredetermined" (i.e., persons who had not been re-determined eligible for social services under Title XX regulations) are not included in Table 1. This is also the case for Tables 2, 3, 4, and 8.

Table 1 is based on State submissions of SSRR Form 1 - Count of Primary Social Service Recipients. (See Appendix C.)

Table 1 -- Highlights

- Federally funded social services were provided to approximately 3.2 million^{1/} recipients, representing an increase of 21% over the comparable figure of 2.7 million^{2/} reported for the previous quarter. Of these recipients, 2.2 million (or two-thirds of the total) were adults; the remainder, 1.1 million, were children.

Adults	1,722,000	64	2,175,000	67
Children	968,000	36	1,070,000	33
Total	2,691,000	100	3,246,000	100

- The number of adults served increased by approximately 26%; the number of children, by 11%.
- Approximately 25% of the recipients discontinued receiving services -- 5 percentage points higher than the proportion for the first quarter.

^{1/} The recipient count for the current reporting quarter was derived by totalling the first four columns of Table 1.

^{2/} Incorrectly rounded to 2.6 million in the first quarter publication.

- Among the reporting States, the service population ranged from 3,500 in Alaska to 376,000 in California.
- The three States with the largest number of adult recipients and the largest number of child recipients were:

TABLE 2 - NATIONAL SUMMARY OF PRIMARY RECIPIENTS BY CATEGORY

TABLE 3 - NATIONAL SUMMARY OF PRIMARY RECIPIENTS BY CATEGORY -- SSI

Because Tables 2 and 3 are similar in format, they are presented together in this report. Table 2 shows services delivered to recipients by category. Table 3 breaks out the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) service population into subcategories of the aged, blind, and disabled.

These tables exhibit a count of recipients within categories of eligibility by service provision status, on a State-by-State basis. Totals for each category are presented, as well as the national total; the national totals on Tables 1 and 2 are consistent.

For this report, all CWS recipients are reported as "Children," and all AFDC-WIN recipients are reported as "Adults."

Tables 2 and 3 are based on State submissions of SSRR Form 1 - Count of Primary Social Services Recipients. The following table (A) summarizes data from Tables 2 and 3.

Table 2 -- AFDC Category -- Highlights

- The AFDC category of recipients of social services reached 1.2 million -- 141,000 more recipients (13%) than in the first reporting quarter. Adults comprised 57% of the recipients; children, 43%.
- The number of adult recipients increased by about 90,000 (15%); the number of child recipients, by 51,000 (11%).
- The AFDC category of recipients accounts for 38% of the service population; this compares with 40% for the first reporting quarter.
- The three States with the largest number of AFDC-related recipients receiving services were:

TABLE 5 - NATIONAL SUMMARY OF SERVICES PROVIDED TO PRIMARY RECIPIENTS,
BY CATEGORY

This table is a summary of the social services received by each category of recipients for the 49 reporting States and the District of Columbia. For each category of recipients, the report breaks out the number of adults and the number of children.

Table 5 is based on State submissions of SSRR Form 2 - Social Services Provided to Primary Recipients. The following table (B) and bar graph (fig. 1) summarize data from Table 5.

Table 5 -- Highlights

Foster Care Services

- Approximately 225,000 recipients received foster care ^{1/} -- 25,000 fewer recipients (10%) than during the first reporting quarter.
- Of the primary recipients of foster care services, 26% were adults, and 74% were children. The comparable proportions for the previous quarter were 17% and 83%, respectively.
- Percent of foster care services recipients, by category, was:

This distribution is as follows:

Service	Total number of recipients	Percent of total recipients of protective services
Protective services for adults	157,000	31

Eight States submitted optional reports of services delivered without Federal matching dollars. These States were: Alaska, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, Oregon, Tennessee, and Utah. Table 6 is a summary of the data submitted by these States. Other States may have provided services but did not report them this quarter. The optional report was added at the request of various States that provide services well beyond their Federal dollar entitlement.

Table 6 is based on State submission of SSRR Form 2E -- Social Services Provided to Primary Recipients - Optional.

APPENDIX B

PROGRAM SUMMARIES

SOCIAL SERVICES (TITLE XX)

The social services program, authorized under Title XX of the Social Security Act, effective October 1, 1975, is administered by the Public Services Administration of the Social and Rehabilitation Service of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Persons eligible for social services are current recipients of AFDC or SSI and, at State option, other persons who meet State and Federal income limitations. States may set any income limit that does not exceed 115% of the State median income for a family of four (adjusted for family size).

States must impose reasonable, income-related fees for services furnished to persons with incomes over the 80% level. States may impose such fees for recipients and persons with income below the 80% level.

Within each State's share of an annual $2.5 billion allotment, the Federal Government contributes 75% of a State's social services expenditures, except for family planning services for which the Federal share is 90%. The $2.5 billion is allotted among the 50 States and the District of Columbia on the basis of population. While all States and the District have Title XX programs, predecessor programs are in effect in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

Each State Title XX plan offers at least one service directed to each of five goals:

- Economic self-support.
- Personal self-sufficiency.
- Protection of children and handicapped adults from abuse, neglect, and exploitation.
- Prevention and reduction of inappropriate institutionalization by providing community care services.
- Arrangement for appropriate institutionalization and services when in the best interests of the individual.

At least three services must be included for SSI recipients. Day Care services, foster care services, homemaker services, health-related services, and services to the mentally retarded and to drug and alcohol abusers are among those offered by most States,

Each State is accountable primarily to its own people for program decisions regarding eligibility, services, and distribution of resources.

CHILD WELFARE SERVICES (TITLE IV-B)

Authorized in 1935 under the Social Security Act, Title IV-B -- Child Welfare Services -- is administered by the Public Services Administration of the Social and Rehabilitation Service.

Child Welfare Services are public social services which supplement or substitute for parental care and supervision in order to:

- (a) Prevent, remedy, or assist in the solution of problems which may result from child neglect, abuse, or exploitation.
- (b) Protect or care for homeless, dependent, or neglected children.
- (c) Protect and promote the welfare of children of working mothers.
- (d) Otherwise protect and promote the welfare of children, including strengthening of their own homes where possible, or, where needed, provide adequate care of children away from their homes in foster family homes or day care or other child care facilities.

Any child is eligible for such services regardless of the social or economic status of the child or family. This federally aided program operates in all 50 States, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

Among the services States can provide under Child Welfare Services are: protective services; health-related services; family counselling; homemaker services; child day care services; and emergency shelter services.

WORK INCENTIVE PROGRAM

The Work Incentive Program (WIN) is authorized under Title IV (Parts A and C) of the Social Security Act and is administered jointly by the Employment and Training Administration of the Department of Labor and with HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service.

WIN's purpose is to provide self-support, employment, and training services to help recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) obtain jobs in the regular economy, training, or public service employment.

All AFDC recipients must register for WIN except children under 16 or in school full time; persons who are ill, elderly, or incapacitated; persons too far from a project to participate; persons needed at home to care for invalids; mothers or other relatives caring for a child under six; and mothers or other female caretakers of a child if the father or other male relative in the home is registered in WIN. Recipients not required to register for WIN may do so voluntarily.

Applicants must register for jobs at the State employment service offices rather than at the local welfare offices. At State option, an intensive manpower services component can be added to provide job referrals, labor market information, job development, and job-seeking/skill development.

The welfare agency arranges for AFDC-WIN registrants to have child care and other self-support services necessary to enable the individual to accept a job or participate in training.

As an incentive to participate in institutional training or in unpaid work experience programs, recipients receive $30 a month of their monthly cash benefits, and one-third of the remainder of their monthly pay is disregarded by the welfare agency in recomputing the AFDC grant. Employable recipients who refuse training or jobs meeting WIN standards may lose AFDC payments for themselves from their families' cash grants.

As an incentive to private employers (including those employing domestics) as well as those in business and industry, the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 provides for the use of tax credits to employers of AFDC recipients.
